A note from Silver Dolphin regarding product quality and safety

Silver Dolphin is committed to creating novelty books that are not only educational and interactive, but above all safe. Nothing is more important to us than the safety of our children, and we employ several checkpoints in our product development process that are designed to protect our most valuable and precious end consumers.

All Silver Dolphin products are tested in accordance with stringent Federal and State guidelines, which include the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act (CPSIA) and ASTM F963. These tests include, but are not limited to, lead, heavy metals, phthalates, and other applicable tests. We also utilize a safety testing specialist to review our products and components from the very beginning prior to the manufacturing stage. Before materials or components are sourced, the product is subject to a design evaluation and reviewed for age appropriateness, design hazards, and all required testing. Once the product is manufactured, it undergoes final testing at a certified third-party laboratory. These test documents and samples are then reviewed and approved before the product is released into the market.

We understand that as a parent, retailer, or consumer you may have further inquiries, so we are happy to answer any questions about our products or safety testing process. Thank you for your ongoing support.
